SUPERINTENDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT

July 29, 1940

Board of Education
Plainfield, New Jersey

Gentlemen:

Submitted herewith are the usual statistical reports for the school year 1939-1940.

Of interest in a time of the effects of changed economic conditions on population trends is a comparison of enrollments for the last two years:

	1938-1939	1939-1940
Total Average Enrollment	6648	6666	Increase 18
Elementary Average Enrollment	4852	4822	Decrease 30
High School Average Enrollment	1796	1844	Increase 48

The following is a table of the Plainfield births and the kindergarten enrollments from 1930. They are given to show the population trend in this section of our school enrollment. It will be noted that the number of births show increases since 1935.

Year	Resident Births	Kindergarten Enrollments (As of May 1)
1930	600	579
1931	606	595
1932	557	602
1933	505	620
1934	500	606
1935	453	566
1936	469	537
1937	503	593
1938	527	612
1939	553	528
1940	---	576

The high school enrollment for 1939-1940 was 1844, the highest in the history of the school. The distress of overcrowding in the high school will be further augmented in September by a predicted enrollment of 1950, a peak for all time.

This condition in the high school still remains as the greatest problem of the school system. It cannot be expected that this community will long want to suffer the great waste entailed by such conditions. Large sums of money are spent each year in providing a well selected and effective administrative and teaching staff for the school. In spite of the fine efforts of the teachers, there is unquestionable loss in the opportunities which the students might receive, if the physical conditions of the building were adequate to meet the demands of normal operation.

The Board of Education and its predecessor have been constantly aware of the necessity for solving the problem. Steps in its solution were made during the year by the occupation of the DeWitt D. Barlow and the Netherwood elementary schools.

The DeWitt D. Barlow School opened January 2, 1940 and the Netherwood School on February 1, 1940. They have been operated so efficiently by their principals and teachers that have already established their reputations as two valuable institutional assets to community life.

After the many hours of effort by the members of the Board of Education in planning their construction with the architects, it is a pleasure to record that both from the standpoint of beauty and utility, they meet anticipations in exterior architecture, interior beauty, and landscaping.

The outstanding event of the school year is the continued interest given by you to the needs of the school system in all its aspects but, in particular, to a further exhaustive study of the building program.

Under the direction of the Publicity Committee, many articles were carefully prepared, and with the fullest cooperation of the Courier-News, were published from time to time. In them a historical review of the system was made from the time of its founding. The junior high schools were re-examined and information was furnished the public for its understanding of the necessity of their establishment to relieve the senior high school crowding. Some special features of the system were portrayed and a survey of Plainfield's bonded debt for schools was printed.

When printed in pamphlet form, a copy will be bound with annual reports of the Board of Education. It should furnish a most valuable record for future administrations.

I want to commend the high accomplishments of the whole group of teachers, supervisors, and principals for the year. The combined efforts of many working with zeal, both for personal achievement and improvement of the schools as a whole, has produced a most satisfactory year of progress.

I am noting some of the new or unusual activities of the year.

There has been mentioned in my previous reports the desirability of the establishment of a personnel service in the high school to help high school students and its graduates secure positions. John J. Siergej was appointed to this position and started work in July, 1939. Some facts concerning the service rendered by him are given below.

1939-1940	Boys	Girls..	Total
Number placed permanently	127	57	184
Number placed—Temporarily or Part-Time	87	64	151
Total Number Placed	214	121	335
Total Number Registered	515	308	823

Visits to Employers	182
Visits to Plants or Establishments	75
Visits to Co-operating Agencies	25
Visits from Co-operating Agencies	4
Visits from Family	11
Meetings Attended	30
School Talks	32
Other Talks	5

The results of the work of this department indicate that the service is well worth while and should be continued.

In line with the work which we are doing in the directing and placing of high school students, a study of 149 selected graduates of the high school made by the National Association of Secondary School Principals should be of great value.

The Occupational Adjustment Study selected Plainfield as one unit of a national study to determine opinion of graduates and their employers on such questions as:

- Initial post school work experiences
- Present work experiences
- Trends in wages
- Attitudes of youth toward school
- Planning for chosen occupation
- Employers' judgment about the adjustments of the youth
- Employers' opinions of youth's schooling
- Youth's opinion of his school

Some results of this report will be used as a basis for possible improvement in certain educational and counseling services of the school.

At the request of a local committee composed of employees of people in the distributive services of the city and under the direction of the Vocational Division of the State Department of Public Instruction, there were conducted evening classes for retail salesmanship as a part of the night school. Leaders of these classes were trained by a representative of the State Department. That the classes successfully filled a need was evidenced by the enthusiastic interest of the local committee and the students participating. This school for the distributive trades was one of the few established in the state and was used as a model by speakers in meetings held both in this and other states. The costs were met mainly from funds created by a national act for the encouragement of vocational training. A request for the formation of an evening class in paper hanging has been approved by the Board as a further extension of vocational training.

I am glad to report that your hearty support of our attempts to improve the music education in the system is meeting with definitely favorable results.

During the year, education in operas continued to have the interest of the local committee of the Metropolitan Guild. The number of seats available for Plainfield students for the annual children's performance of the Metropolitan Opera Company is determined by the number of memberships in the Metropolitan Guild.

Under the leadership of the assistant supervisor in charge of vocal music, classroom teachers of music have co-operated fully in education for listening to operatic productions. Three hundred students from the upper grades and high school attended the opera Faust in the Metropolitan Opera House.

The precision and quality of the work in vocal music was further advanced and the courses in music appreciation were greatly improved by the purchase of an electric record reproducer for most of the schools.

REPORT ON DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION COURSES 1939-1940

Board of Education
Plainfield, New Jersey

Gentlemen:

The work in this new field which was started in connection with our Evening School last fall has proven to be very much worthwhile. Nine short unit courses were offered with a total enrollment of 136. These courses are given under the new George-Deen Act which entitles us to a payment of two-thirds of their cost from Federal funds.

In addition to the courses in Salesmanship the State Department sponsored a course for executives at no cost to our Board of Education. This was known as the Executive Conference Group and their work was brought to a successful conclusion last week when diplomas were presented to the members by John A. McCarthy, Asst. Commissioner of Education.

Recently a group of people from Elizabeth who are being trained as teachers of Salesmanship visited our Evening School to observe and confer with us regarding methods of procedure and the development of courses of study.

These new offerings have more than met expectations. Perhaps this is best borne out by the fact that the State Department is using the Plainfield plan of organization for other cities throughout the State.

Dr. K. B. Haas of the Department of Education, Washington, in charge of Distributive Education, has been very complimentary and commended our work at conferences and conventions throughout the country. His last comment in a News Letter from Washington which is distributed throughout the various States is as follows:

"Plainfield, New Jersey is not the home town of Mary Livingston, but it is one of those places which has stopped 'cursing the darkness and has lighted its own candle.' They have a splendid small town program. To learn about it, how it originated, what they have done, what they are doing, what they are planning, write to A. F. Hopper, Plainfield Public Schools, Plainfield, New Jersey, for a copy of his mimeographed publication, "Distributive Education Conference—January 2, 1940."

This week John A. McCarthy, Assistant Commissioner of Education and Arthur B. Wrigley, Assistant for Trades and Industries will discuss the Plainfield Plan of Distributive Education at a convention being held in Buffalo, New York.

The Plainfield merchants have asked us to continue our efforts in this direction and we hope for another successful session next year.

Respectfully submitted,
ARTHUR F. HOPPER,
Principal.

REPORT ON PLAINFIELD EVENING SCHOOL

1939-1940

The Plainfield Evening School opened on October 2 for a period of 16 weeks and closed on February 15 with the exception of the Salesmanship courses which completed their work on Monday, April 29.

There was a total course enrollment of 932 which figure included the new Salesmanship courses.

Elementary and Advanced French

Cooperation between Plainfield Evening School and Plainfield Area Adult School

Last October the above school inaugurated a program of adult education and through a misunderstanding there was a little confusion with our Plainfield Evening School offerings. This has now been straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned and by the cooperation of the two agencies both programs will be enriched next year. It should be understood that the Plainfield Evening School under the Board of Education has a more intensive program than the Adult School and many of our offerings are vocational in character; this being especially true of stenography, typewriting, bookkeeping, accounting, mechanical and architectural drawing, blue print reading and industrial mathematics. All of these subjects call for definite courses of study and it is required by law that they be taught by qualified teachers holding regular State certificates. The Americanization classes also come under this category.

The Adult School program is more avocational in character and includes dancing, golf, card playing, gardening, interior decorating, crafts work and certain types of commercial work, chiefly planned for home use. Both schools have a very definite function to perform and the development of these programs will continue to be of considerable value to residents of Plainfield.

Americanization Classes

These classes meet a very definite need for foreigners in our midst and for many of them it is the only opportunity they have to learn our language and to be educated in American ideals and customs. The courses are well organized and effective work is being accomplished which includes special training for those who wish to obtain their citizenship papers.

Future Development

With reference to the subjects offered in our Evening School, as already stated many of these are on a vocational basis and in this connection we should keep in mind that there are a number of young people in our city who are definitely handicapped because we do not have a county vocational school, while our neighbor, Middlesex County has 3 such schools, the latest addition being the Woodbridge School which is considered one of the best of its type in the country. In order to overcome this handicap, many young people enroll in our Evening School for the purpose of obtaining some specific training which they are unable to obtain elsewhere. This education is a definite asset to them and pays back dividends in terms of more efficient workers who are able to find and keep jobs due to the special training they have received.

Additional courses, especially those of a vocational character could be offered to advantage when our budget permits. These might include Machine Shop Practice, Auto Mechanics, as well as practical courses in Home Economics, such as dietetics, child care, practical cooking and consumer education. It should be kept in mind that due to the over-crowded conditions in our high school many pupils do not have an opportunity for instruction in home economics, and later on find themselves at a disadvantage. Such courses would be of considerable value to young married women.

In conclusion, I would like to thank the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education for making the development and success of our Evening School possible and to assure all concerned that the young people of this community fully appreciate the opportunities we are providing for them.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR F. HOPPER, Principal
